Read :- The following After No.PR (H) Comp 1747 dated 27-2-1959

“In reply to the letter from the Government cited above, I invite a reference to the not under Rule 3 (1) b (ii) of the Madras Civil Pensions (commutation) Rules 1944. (Appendix 5 of the Madras Pension Code.. On the analogy of this, the following suggestions are made in order to express the residue of pension after communication to the nearest of multiple of a naya paise.

1. The portion of pension proposed to be commuted may be rounded to the next higher multiple of 5 np. in case than one less than one half of the pension is proposed to be commuted. For example if the pension is Rs.100/-and 1/3 of this amount is to be commuted, the amount to be commuted will be , 33-33 and the residue of pension will be Rs.66-67. In this case, the amount to be commuted shall be rounded to rs.33-35, and the residue of pension rounded to rs.56.65.
2. Where one half of the pension to proposed to be commuted, the amount to be commuted cannot be rounded to the next higher multiple of 5 np as in that case it would executed the limit of one half. In such cases the amount to be commuted may be rounded to the next lower multiple of five np.
3. When pension is expressed in rupees and annas, the procedure laid down in the rule referred to above (Annexure is to Madras Pension Code) will be applicable.

The orders of Government on this subject may please be communicated to this office.
