Draft Circular

The Society of Indian Foresters came into being during the year 1956, with head quarters at Dehra Dun. Though it has become a Society of historical importance, yet its present membership is rather small. We wish this Society to grow and expand very considerably, so that it can provide common platform for the forestry professionals, Researchers, Scientists Industrialists and all those who are concerned with the forests of India. The Society can serve the purpose of expressing the professional views in the general development of the nation and to some extent it can even venture to guide the process of policy making. The society is publishing a quarterly journal the Van Vigyan which has a circulation of about 700 copies. It published articles of professional nature on Forestry and Wild Life.

You are requested to kindly send subscription of Rs. 110/- for the institutional membership for the year 1986 for your office to the below mentioned address.
